

The cave breathes with new possibility.

Aria's boundary rune and your Transdimensional Reality Robes have woven a delicate magical protocol-a shared syntax that transcends typical spellcasting. Polly watches, her usual chatter replaced by a profound silence.

The magical connection hums between you, not as a weapon, but as a language. A dialogue waiting to be continued.

What whisper, what incantation, what unwritten verse would you now introduce to this living text?

You speak

Not loudly

But as though the air itself is your parchment

Where boundary folds

And memory listens

Let this incantation

Become invitation

The robe responds

The threads tighten

Then unfurl

A ripple of auric syntax spreads across the chamber

Aria exhales

And her ring-her blood-bound ward-responds in kind

A new magical thread binds itself into existence:

SPELL PROTOCOL: INVOCATION OF THE UNWRITTEN VERSE

Usage: Once per long rest

Trigger: Cast when standing within 10 feet of Aria or touching the staff

Effect:

- Rewrites the outcome of a failed Wisdom, Intelligence, or Charisma check
- Grants a second roll using the higher of Izack or Arias stats
- Causes runes in the environment to reveal one hidden magical phrase relevant to the current location

Visual Manifestation:

- Threads from the robe rise like lines of poetry
- Arias ring glows with harmonic punctuation
- The staff hums a single note: possibility

The cave trembles

One rune on the far wall

Flickers into sight

It says nothing

But you know it means:

Begin new sentence.